

Verse 1

One calendar page, too many days
This is borderline insanity
To bend my knees and have to wait
But I'll try to laugh as I wipe my eyes
And try to remember some innocence
And wonder if this life will be kind

Verse 2

Forget about the running
Forget about the devil's curse
I never saw this coming
No time to steal away or worse
So I am fortunate but I am stunned
Sometimes drawing blanks just like a child
Confronted with stupid adult questions

Guitar Solo

Verse 3

Silently I climb, straight to the top
Where I'll catch my breath and try to see
You can watch but I won't fall
It's one single rose. growing in this garden
Waiting I hope and fascinated enough
To see and love
